Memories We Have Known

The bonfire, the ball, sports events, plays, final exams, and even the many class hours spent in discussion or study make up the memories we have known.

The new stadium, the Junior Miss Pageant, High Q team, and other new events added to the already full scrapbook of memories. There was always that friendly "Hi" or special smile to make each separate day more memorable.

And with these memories the seniors depart leaving the underclassmen to make memories for the future.

Memories . . .

Administration

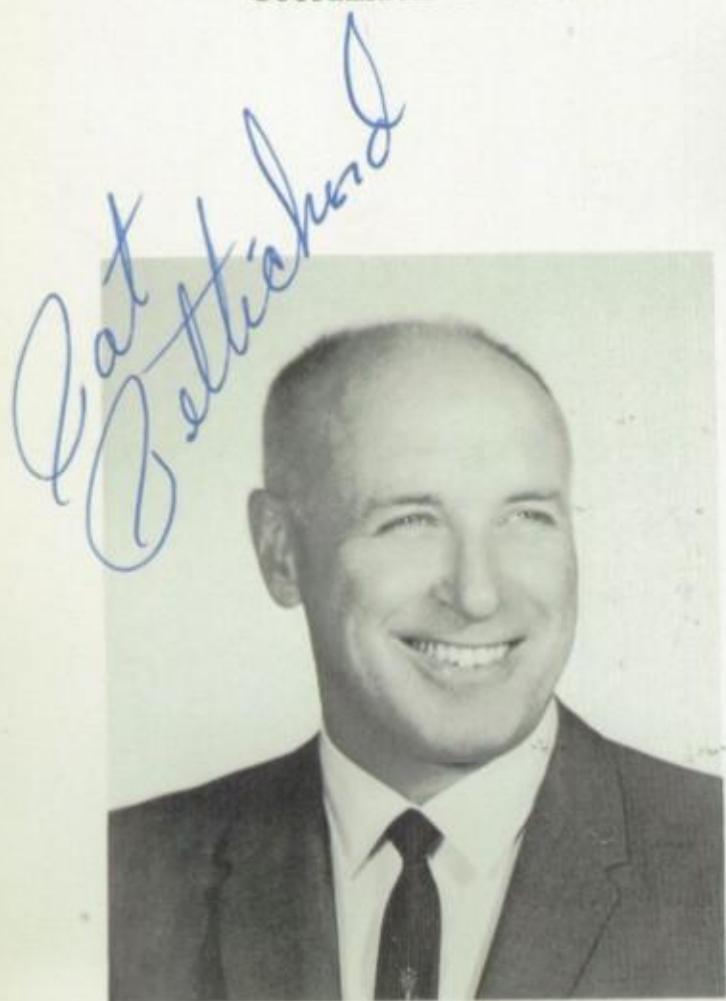

Superintendent, Harold Johnson, keeps in touch with far reaching corners of the BG campus.

Ever increasing enrollment was the major problem confronting administration officials throughout the 1967-68 school year. Plans discussed included reorganization of grade school facilities and the expansion of vocational classes. A new addition on the BG campus was the new football stadium, dedicated to the students and people of the Battle Ground school district. Farsighted planning for the future, under the leadership of Superintendent Harold Johnson and his co-workers, has enabled the school to meet demands placed upon it.

Spirit Of '68 Prevails

True school pride and spirit were demonstrated by the class of 1968. As sophomores, the class members took initiation in good spirit and held the traditional Sophomore Brawl.

Originality and enthusiasm were evident as the juniors participated in their dress-up day, the school operetta, "Li'l Abner," and the Junior Class Play, "Charlie's Aunt."

As seniors the class presented their play, "The Robin Hood Caper," and the Junior-Senior Ball, "Raindrops on Roses." The enthusiasm of the class was evident in their winning of the Pep Jug at numerous pep assemblies. The seniors voted on the members of the class that they considered most outstanding. These students are featured in the Bengal as "Who's Who."

As graduation neared and college and job applications were completed, the seniors looked wistfully back on the active past and anxiously toward the undefined future.

WHO'S WHO--A striking personality and outstanding athletic ability made Joe McCoy a favorite among his classmates. Filling his high school career were activities such as sophomore class vice-president, Sophomore Brawl prince, junior class vice-president, student council assistant vice-president, and B-Club. Joe's love for sports reaped reward by his selection as All-Conference Quarterback and football team captain. Varsity basketball made his athletic year complete. Olympic Junior College is his planned destination with a major in architectural engineering.

WHO'S WHO—Gaining experience through JV cheerleading and Dancing Majorettes, petite Linda Storm represented BGHS as a varsity cheerleader. Linda served as class secretary during her sophomore and junior years, and as a senior was class vice-president. Her popularity led to her selection for Sophomore Brawl princess and Homecoming court. Linda was also on the four-year honor roll and a member of Swing Choir and Concert Choir. After graduation, she plans to major in education at Central Washington State College.

WHO'S WHO—One of the leaders of the class of 1968 was a girl with a dynamic personality, vivacious Barb Goble. In her sophomore year she was a JV cheerleader and then in her senior year, a varsity cheerleader. Scholastically, Barb's achievements numbered many. She was given the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) award and was on the four-year honor roll. Barb's outstanding personality won her the honor of being Junior-Senior Ball princess in her junior year and a member of the Homecoming court in her senior year. She was also crowned Girl of the Month for December. Her other activities include Concert Choir, Tigerettes, and German Club. Barb's tentative plans are to attend Oregon State University.

Backbone Of Student Body Strengthened By Seniors

WHO'S WHO--An active participant in student affairs, Margo Rieck also maintained a high academic standing. She was on the four-year honor roll and was also among the upper five percent of her class. As business manager of the student body in her senior year, Margo was known to most of the students as "the girl behind the counter." Almost any time, Margo could be seen selling tickets at games or working in the student body office during school hours. Margo had no trouble keeping busy, as she was also Spanish Club president and physics lab assistant. A highlight of Margo's stay at Battle Ground was her appointment as Girls' State representative during her junior year. Upon graduation, Margo hopes to study oceanography at Oregon State University.

Senior Leaders Show Pride

WHO'S WHO--Donna Beseda, one of the most active and popular girls in the class of '68 was always ready with a friendly smile for her classmates. Donna was an active member in Dancing Majorettes and Tigerettes. In her senior year she served the Tigerettes as vice-president; and as president of Dancing Majorettes, she arranged for many halftime performances by the group. Throughout her high school years, Donna served on numerous committees for Girls' League and Tigerettes. Her high grades gave her honor standing all four years. Donna plans to attend Clark College in a liberal arts course.

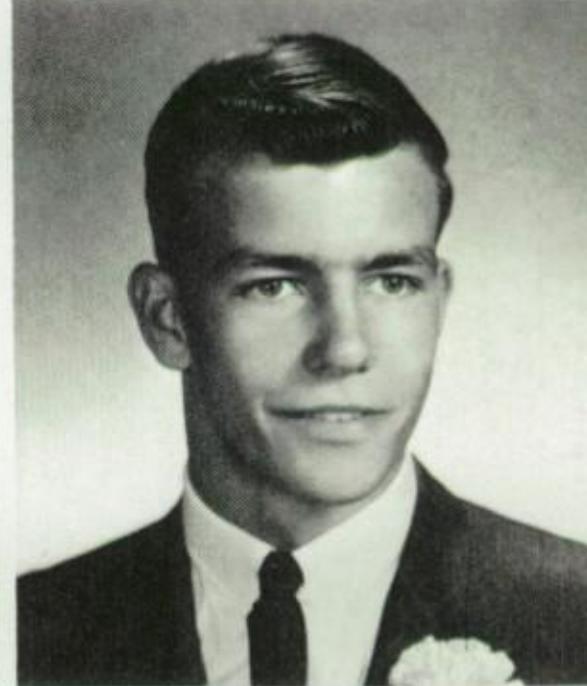

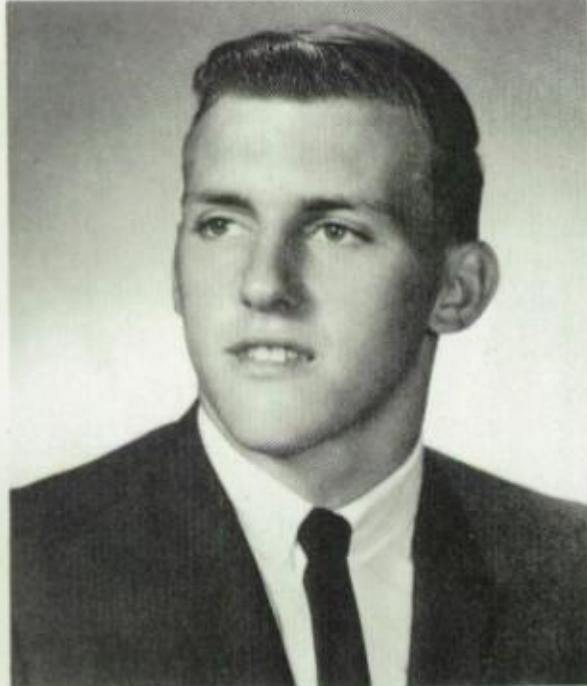

Outside Influences

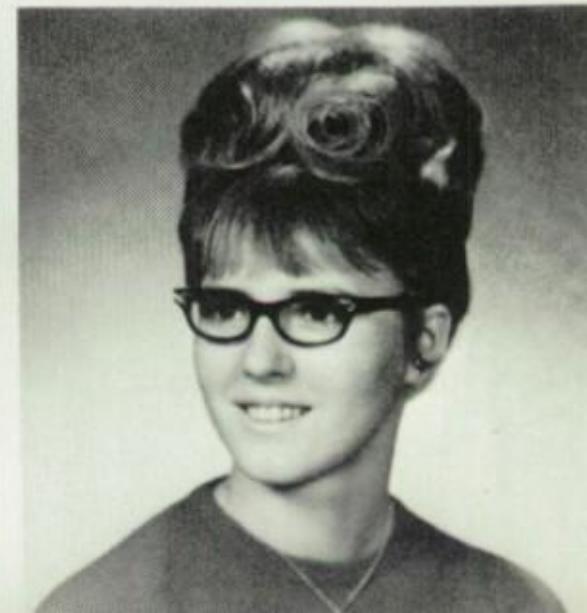

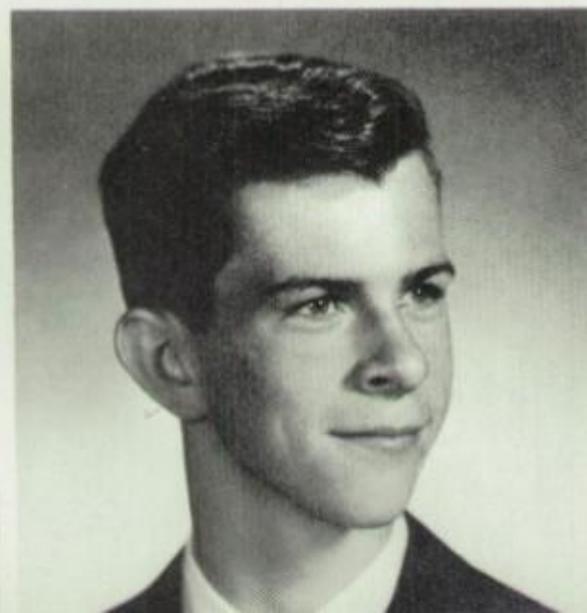

WHO'S WHO--Ambitious and willing, senior Joel Remme captured the admiration of his fellow students. Serving as German Club president and National Honor Society president kept Joel busy. As a member of the staffs of the Bengal and the Tiger, he impressed classmates with his inspirational wit and originality. Participating in numerous school plays as well as being a member of the debate team gave Joel an opportunity to express himself. Known for his talent of writing poetry, he plans to attend the University of Washington, taking a pre-major course.

WHO'S WHO--Home economics was Marilyn Boynton's favorite subject in high school. Besides her class activities, Marilyn had a busy extracurricular schedule. As a junior she was secretary-treasurer of Girls' League and had a part in the Junior Class Play. As a senior she was a member of Dancing Majorettes, Girls' League representative, chairman of Girl-of-the-Month committee, member of the Bengal staff, and a cast member in the Senior Class Play. Marriage plays an important part in Marilyn's future plans.

She appeared in other drama productions as well, including the Junior Class Play and a special speech class production. Service as Girls' League secretary-treasurer and circulation manager of the Tiger occupied much of Melissa's time during her senior year. In spite of her full schedule, her high grades earned her a place on the honor roll consistently. Melissa plans to major in elementary education at the University of Washington or Central Washington State College.

Dominate Sports

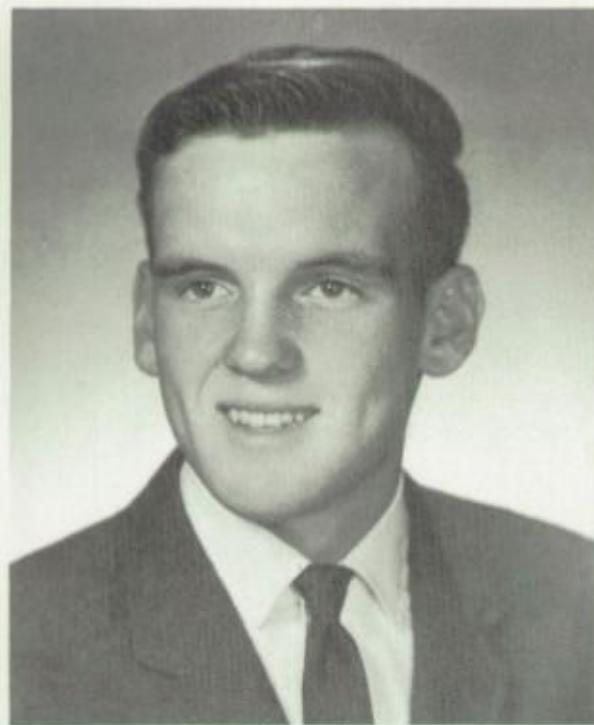

WHO'S WHO—A well-rounded combination of educational, extra-curricular, and sports activities made Phil Williams a prominent senior. He served as a member of Student Council for three years, and was president of his class in his junior year. Active in all sports, Phil was a three-year letterman in varsity baseball, gaining a starting position from his sophomore year. He also lettered in varsity basketball in his senior year, after playing two years of jay-vee basketball and one year of football. This background made him eligible for B-Club, of which he was a member for two years. Despite this involved participation, Phil maintained honor roll grades throughout his high school years. He plans to attend a university in Washington, majoring in math and science.

WHO'S WHO—A top athlete at Battle Ground, Bob Carlile participated in football, wrestling, and baseball. Representing the school in the state wrestling tournament at Bellingham, and being chosen as an all-conference selection in football were two of Bob's many achievements. While carrying a college-prep course in school, Bob still found time to hold offices in his class and Boys' League. He was a member of National Honor Society, Student Council, B-Club, and Concert Choir. Bob plans to major in business administration, although he has not as yet decided on his college choice.

WHO'S WHO—Nearing perfection in all his activities was David Birchman, a remarkable individual. Throughout his high school years David held an almost perfect four-point grade average despite his varied activities, which included varsity debate and speaking, varsity wrestling, serving as Hi-Q team captain and first vice-president of the student body, and reading and listening to good poetry. Although much of David's time was spent on school, he found spare hours to devote to his own creative writing or reading that of such poets as Allen Ginsberg and T. S. Eliot. After graduation David plans to attend the University of Washington where he will major in speech.

WHO'S WHO--Lively Kayda Kooken was caught up in a whirl of activities throughout her high school years. Besides serving as Girls' League president and ranking second in her class scholastically, Kayda found time for work on the stage crew and active participation in Tigerettes and German Club. In her senior year, she was honored as Girl of the Month for November. A two-year member of Concert Choir, Girls' Ensemble, and Swing Choir, Kayda also took part in plays, skits, and operettas. As a nine-year member of 4-H, Kayda won several first-place awards in sewing. Oregon State University is the next step in Kayda's education, where she plans to major in biology.

She was a member of Concert Choir and Girls' Ensemble for two years, Swing Choir for one year. Janie also took part in the Junior Class Play. In service to the student body, Janie filled the office of ASB secretary and High Times editor for the Columbian in her senior year. She was active in Girls' League, serving on various committees and acting as Girls' League representative in her junior year. Along with all of her activities, Janie earned a place for herself on the four-year honor roll.

WHO'S WHO—A recognized leader, Harry Harlow was elected to represent his classmates many times during his active high school career. Serving as president of his sophomore class and as a student council representative for two years gave Harry valuable experience for his office of senior president. As a sophomore, he played on the varsity basketball squad and was elected as a Sophomore Brawl prince. Even though his extra-curricular activities claimed many after-school hours, Harry managed to be a four-year honor society member. His scholastic efforts will take him to the University of Washington where he will study engineering.

WHO'S WHO—A ready smile and sparkling personality made Clara Bafford a favorite among her classmates. Clara was always willing to serve her school in any way she could. As a sophomore she was on the J.V. rally squad, and during her senior year she served as student body vice-president. Concert Choir, Girls' Ensemble, Tigerettes, German Club, Majorettes, and Bengal were among Clara's extracurricular activities. Even with this busy schedule, she managed to maintain honor roll grades. After graduation Clara plans to attend Central Washington State College to study special education on the elementary level.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Joe Bafford, sergeant-at-arms; Jan Bartholet, president; Mr. Forsman and Mrs. McConnell, advisers; Chris Kennedy, secretary; Keith Petersen, vice-president.

Juniors agreed that 1967-68 was a year filled with school activities: clubs, sports, plays, dances, and concerts.

One of the highlights of the year for the classmen was the Junior-Senior Prom. Led by the executive councils of both classes, committees worked diligently to make Prom night an evening to remember.

Junior Dress-Up Day gave the juniors

a chance to show their creativity by wearing hilarious costumes to school. The climax of the event was the ASB assembly, where the outfits were judged.

Another main event was the Junior Class Play, which united the players in a successful performance.

All too soon the busy year was gone, leaving many pleasant memories.

Sophomores Boast

Led by their president Mike Deitz, the sophomores formed not only the largest class, but one of the most enthusiastic groups in school. Their widening interests were evident in their membership in various clubs and their participation in athletics.

Social events such as after-game dances helped the sophomores become acquainted with other students. The major sophomore class function, the Tiger Romp, was a roaring success, affording a night of fun to those who attended.

The sophomore year proved to be both busy and exciting for the students who are soon to take their places among the upperclassmen in positions of leadership at Battle Ground High School.

Freshman Year

Freshmen started a year of fun and excitement as they entered high school life through initiation. The boys were denied the right to wear their shoes or shirts and sported a sign announcing they were frosh. The girls had the honor of sitting on the floor at a Girls' League assembly and wearing safety signs such as Caution-Wide Load.

Together with the sophomores, frosh held the Tiger Romp where students could dance and enjoy games of luck and skill.

Many frosh boys entered into sports and many of the girls became active members of campus clubs.

The freshmen were led by their class president, Steve Luckman, and under his leadership enjoyed a prosperous year.

Boys' League Sponsors

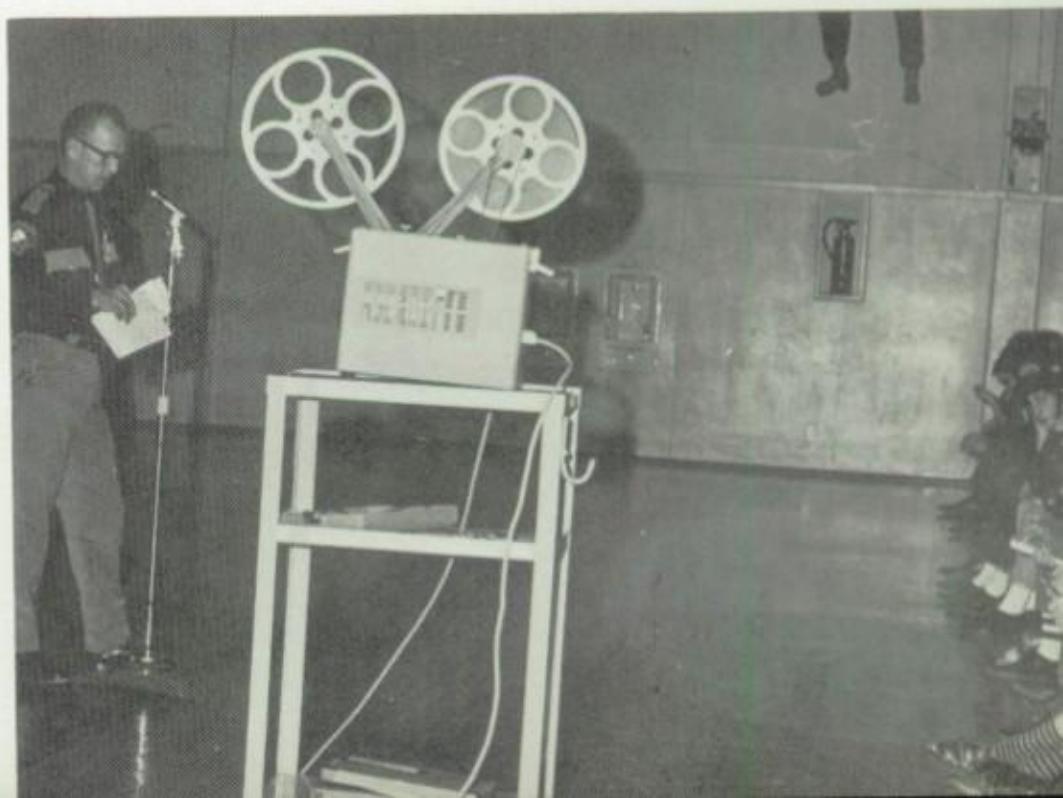

Greg Lynn leads Boys' League action toward building the Homecoming bonfire.

Schedule Starts With A Bonfire

Battle Ground's Boys' League opened its year by leading the building of the Homecoming bonfire. Many boys put in hour after hour collecting boxes to make the bonfire the best in the history of the school.

Headed by president, Phil Williams, and program committee chairman, Butch Browne, the league hosted a variety of speakers and informative programs. On the agenda for the monthly meetings were: Dennis Steigman, former Battle Ground athlete, who told of his recent military tour of Vietnam; Police Captain Thornberry, who spoke on drug abuse; representatives of the military services; and members of the Portland Buckeroos, who spoke on hockey.

Girls' League Promotes Participation

Kayda Kooken crowns February Girl of the Month, Ruth McDaniels.

Girls' League greeted the 1967-68 school year with frosh orientation and initiation. The Father-Daughter Dessert, Homecoming, and Tolo followed in rapid succession. Monthly meetings featured student talent, Girl of the Month, and speakers from United Airlines, Vietnam, and the Washington Employment Agency. Completing the successful year was the Mother-Daughter Banquet, where the senior Girl of the Year was announced and the newly elected officers were installed.

Valedictorian, Barb Goble, led the class of 1968 with a 3.875 GPA. As a senior, Barb was elected class secretary and a member of the varsity rally squad. Barb was also DAR award winner and Girl of the Year.

Through Scholastic Achievement

The Battle Ground National Honor Society accepted an invitation to participate in the High School Bowl, a question-and-answer competition among high schools in the area. The team had a very successful season, one of the major upsets being the defeat of the perennial leader, Evergreen. The honor society was able to see their team in action at an assembly when Battle Ground was host to Camas.

Joel Remme led the society as president, assisted by secretary, Diane Lindberg, and adviser, Mr. Wescom.

In the spring the four-year honor roll members visited Lewis and Clark College in Portland, and were honored May 17 at a banquet sponsored by the Battle Ground Education Association.

Officers confer on the agenda for the next meeting.

Students Govern

Led by ASB president Greg Luckman and his officers, the student council accomplished much for BGHS this year.

In the fall the council sponsored a Halloween costume contest to finance the annual shipment of Christmas packages to alumni serving in Vietnam. Tigerectories and booster buttons were sold. The council also initiated the use of a human Tiger mascot.

The entire year was filled with original ideas that rejuvenated the enthusiasm of the student council and, in turn, the students.

FHA Guides Careers

President Linda Mesick led the FHA in a year of service and fun. Throughout the year the girls worked on projects for their Junior Homemaker, chapter, and state degrees. At FHA Recognition Day, March 9, the girls won top honors and twenty dollars for "FHA and Lucy the Psychiatrist," a skit about the year's club activities.

A good grooming project for FHA Week, March 31 to April 5, was organized by the thirty members. During this time, posters and a mirror displayed in the hall prompted students to take an interest in their appearance.

Tiger agriculturists put their knowledge to productive gains this year as their list of achievements grows. Under the guidance of advisers, Mr. Olmstead and Mr. Alleyn, the boys achieved a superior rating in the statewide merit program. Although the group did not win a great many trophies, they got a chance to see a lot of good livestock. Delegates to the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Missouri, were president Tom Girard and vice-president Jim Lester.

Of the six contests they took part in, the Pacific International Livestock Exhibition was the most rewarding. Jim Lester and Steve Funk caught colts while Ed Thomas domineered a calf in various scramble contests. Following in the footsteps of Senior Pete Lehner, the three will feed and train their stock until next year at the P.I., when the animals will be sold.

FFA president, Tom Girard, accepts Showmanship Trophy.

Dorothy Edwards, Belinda Byland, Jim Berg, and adviser, Miss Smith, enjoy moment of humor during planning conference for Literature Club.

Literature Club Examines Novels

Attending plays at such colleges as Portland State was one of the methods used by Literature Club to further literary knowledge. President Dorothy Edwards, with the help of Mrs. Buchmann and Miss Smith, led members in discussion of works of various modern authors. The club also discussed books and plays of different time periods, and compared the similarities and differences that occur in the evolution of literature.

German Club Increases Activities

German Club became more active in its second year of existence. Led by adviser, Mr. Barker, and President Joel Remme, members participated in functions similar to those of the German culture. Weekend trips to the Oregon beaches and Mt. Hood were organized, and exchanges with clubs from other schools were established. Staying with the cultural tradition, the club attended a banquet at the Rheinlander restaurant in Portland, an annual participation.

Members of the Spanish Club enjoyed an active year, combining participation in both recreation and study of Spanish heritage. Guided by Miss Morecroft, adviser, and Brenda Cross, president, the club expanded in membership and activity. Celebrations of the Mexican holidays were saluted through the Pinata Party and the Fiesta Mexicana. The Club also attended an appearance of Jose Greco, visited a Spanish restaurant, and sponsored an after-game dance.

New French Club Enthusiastic

The amount of interest shown by students in the French language and culture led to the establishment of the new French Club. Through the efforts of Mr. Rotschy and President Judy Birchman, members worked eagerly to make it an official club. After writing a constitution, the club participated in parties of the IRC and Spanish Club, which aided them in ideas and acceptance. A Christmas party in the manner of the French celebration was held. Other activities included a visit to the Seamen's Center in Vancouver to talk to crewmen of a French ship, and attendance at a French restaurant in Portland.

Bands Provide

Battle Ground's bands, under the direction of Mr. Nelson, sparked spirit and enthusiasm during the school year.

Rousing performances by the Pep Band enlivened basketball games and pep assemblies. The Stage Band tested their skill by competing in stage band contests in the spring. Concerts, too, provided a showcase for this talented group. The parent organization, the Symphonic Band added participation in home football game entertainment to their usual schedule of four concerts.

A highlight of the year was the appearance at Battle Ground of the stage band from Mount Hood Community College.

Art Club contributes Sculpture

Preparing for their major project of a life-sized sculpture of a man, the Art Club was kept busy. Extensive study of the different clays that can be used to create a sculpture, and a visit to Charles Hansen, a noted sculptor in the Vancouver area, helped the club with their project. Upon completion the creation was presented to the Battle Ground branch of the Fort Vancouver Regional Library. Club officers were Denise LaLonde, president; and Sandra Roeske, secretary.

Members of the International Relations Club enjoyed a rewarding year, beginning with a party to which they invited the foreign language clubs. IRC members also established a fund to aid foreign exchange students, and participated in the Southwest Washington International Relations League (SWIRL) at Clark College.

Boosting international relations is also the purpose of the American Field Service. AFS exchange student at BG this year was Margit Allden from Sweden. Attending BGHS and living with the David Kooken family helped Margit to learn about America. She taught her American family to speak Swedish, while Mrs. Kooken and Kayda taught her a little home ec. This will enable Margit to mend and cook for her brother Smiggen and herself when they share a flat away from home to attend school. Margit's plans include a diet of scrambled eggs, cold cereal, and chocolate chip cookies.

Citizens of the community also learned about Sweden, as Margit spoke to various organizations throughout the year.

Sees Active Year

Activity was the word that best described the Concert Choir. The choir began the year with an exchange assembly at Camas High School and participation in the Fall Concert. They also sponsored a rummage sale to raise money for the organ fund.

The Christmas season was a busy one. Performances in the Christmas Concert, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, and the Clark County Court House were highlights of the season. The traditional caroling trip to the Lloyd Center was, to the dismay of all members, cancelled because of snow.

Spring was the height of activity with the choir performing in a tribute to Stephen Foster at the Quay restaurant, and members turning out for numerous rehearsals in preparation for the annual choir judication.

President Arlene Brown helped FTA start their year's activities with a poster-making spree to encourage new membership. On November 4 many of the club members attended the Western Regional FTA Conference at the University of Puget Sound. Through the year the club sponsored an annual Christmas welfare party, an after-game dance, and several fund-raising projects. At the main event of the year, the FTA banquet, a deserving senior was presented with a fifty-dollar scholarship.

FNC's president, Donna Fishwood, was kept busy as the club sped through many activities. These included volunteer work at nearby nursing homes, the state deaf school, and Vancouver Memorial Hospital. Learning to give of themselves is an important aspect of nursing, and the girls learned how by making Christmas decorations and Valentine gifts for nursing home patients. The year's activities ended in the capping ceremony and installation of new officers.

With the aid of adviser Mrs. Porter, the journalism and yearbook classes set a new pace. The TIGER, published by the journalism class and headed by editor Kathy Fralick, took the first step by publishing a paper every two weeks instead of once a month, as before. More interested and more active in the betterment of the school than in previous years, B-Club thrived under the leadership of its president, John Johnson, and vice-president, Mike Mode. The boys' service club, exclusively for lettermen, initiated the new year with their annual raffle in an effort to raise money to purchase traveling jackets for the team.

School traditions were strengthened as members attempted a crack-down on students wearing lettermen's sweaters from other schools or awards they had not earned. B-Club members, upholding annual events and traditions, enjoyed a successful year.

Initiating the new year with a hike to Silver Falls, the 1967-68 GAA girls set the pace for the parade of activities to follow.

The Mother-Daughter Fun Night, ice skating, bike riding, roller skating, and swimming offered variety and amusement for its members.

Girls Promote Pep

Tigerettes, a girls' service club, promoted pep and enthusiasm throughout the year. Along with the usual Homecoming activities and weekly wearing of pep outfits on game days, the girls sold concessions at home games and served at the annual sports banquet. Other activities centered around practice for the basketball Jamboree at Hudson's Bay in an effort to win the sportsmanship banner, and spring installation and initiation.

New additions to the club were Miss Morecroft as a second adviser, a revised constitution, and acceptance of freshman girls in the club.

Under the leadership of Sandy Day, president; Donna Beseda, vice-president; Kathy Fralick, secretary; Nancy Jacobson, publicity chairman; Brenda Cross, social chairman; Sherry Nelson, concessions chairman; Rene Heriford, rally chairman; and advisers Miss MacRae and Miss Morecroft, the Tigerettes enjoyed a successful year.

Majorettes Enliven Halftimes

Getting into the swing of school activities early this fall were the Dancing Majorettes under the leadership of Donna Beseda. While learning and practicing a routine for Homecoming festivities, they were also called upon to perform with the Pep Band at the dedication ceremony for the new stadium.

Highlighting the Majorettes' high-stepping year was their invitational appearance at Columbia River High School. The girls met for two to six hours a week to prepare for this performance. The same time and effort went into the many other football and basketball half time performances during the year. Their rewards? The applause after a performance.

Homecoming 1967 Simply

Omens of bad luck had little effect on Homecoming 1967. The week's activities ranged from Haunted Halls Day on Monday through Superstition Day, All Hail to the Queen Day, and Bring a Coffin Box for the Plainsmen Day, to School Pride Day on Friday.

Wednesday's activities saw the Homecoming Court—Kathy George, Barb Goble, Kathy Julson, Linda Storm, and Barb Wolff—anxiously awaiting the revealing of the queen. Above, Kathy Julson gasps as she hears her name announced as Homecoming Queen. At right, she is greeted by the first of many loyal subjects.

With a toss of the Evergreen dummy into the traditional bonfire, the real excitement of the week began. The bonfire and rally paved the way for the Friday, October 13 game, which was far from unlucky as the triumphant Tigers defeated the previously unbeaten Evergreen Plainsmen 7-0.

THE ROBIN HOOD CAPER

A comedy full of out-of-the-ordinary happenings was presented by the senior class on November 17 and 18.

"The Robin Hood Caper," directed by Mrs. Newton, is the story of four elderly ex-cons who decided to do good in the world. Wanting to help Flora Langley's nephew keep his newspaper, they called upon their previous experiences, blackmail by murder.

Monday, February 12, was Slave Day, the first day of Tolo. On this day the "weaker sex" had to obey all commands from the male population of Battle Ground. Futile attempts to make girls talk were made by boys on Tuesday as they tried for the title of Mr. Irresistible. Wednesday Harry Harlow, Steve Jagelski, Lee Bradford, Richard Reiman and Jeff Cheney were announced as princes on the Tolo Court. Thursday was "Up to Your Imagination." As everyone was trying to imagine what could be planned the Girls' League was busy giving away homemade cakes to lucky boys. Orange and black prevailed as the Tigers prepared themselves for the exciting game Friday night. After the game the girls took their dates to the Tolo dance where Harry Harlow was crowned Tolo king.

Drama Year

Spring was enlivened by two dramatic productions, "Mouse on the Moon," put on by the advanced speech class on March 1, and "Life With Father," the Junior Class Play, presented on April 26 and 27.

"Mouse on the Moon" portrays the excitement brought on in the small European duchy of Grand Fenwick when they take advantage of a rare Premier Grand Cru (an exceptional quality wine) to fuel their rocket to the moon. In a race between the United States and Russia, all are surprised when Grand Fenwick beats both contenders with the end result a "Mouse on the Moon."

"Life With Father" concerns the situation of the Day family in the late nineteenth century, revolving around Mr. Day's refusal to be baptised. The problem is magnified by the untimely arrival of an aunt, known to all the family except Father. So goes "Life With Father."

Grand Fenwick representatives Joel Remme and Greg Lynn arbitrate argument between Russian cosmonaut Pam Hicks and American astronaut Randy Deming.

Determination, will power, and hard training carried the Tiger "harriers" to the most successful season they have enjoyed in years. Defeated in only one league meet, Battle Ground sent two runners, Bob Grant--also the inspirational award

Despite an early season setback, Tiger spirit gave the wrestling team an outstanding season. Overcoming injuries and illness to regular varsity positions, the team rallied to several notable victories, including one over highly rated Chehalis. The Tigers placed fourth in the district meet at Olympia, with six members gaining positions. Mike Mode, Bob Carlile, Bob Kullberg, Greg Luckman, Russ Kinney, and Leonard Brosius won district recognition. Mike Mode, Bob Carlile, and Bob Kullberg were eligible for state competition. highlighted the year, as the BG five ended up with a ten and six record which placed them fifth in the final standings. Unity, toughness, and class enabled the Tigers to win their share of the games.

Randy Massie, junior playmaker, scores two points in victory over Roosevelt.

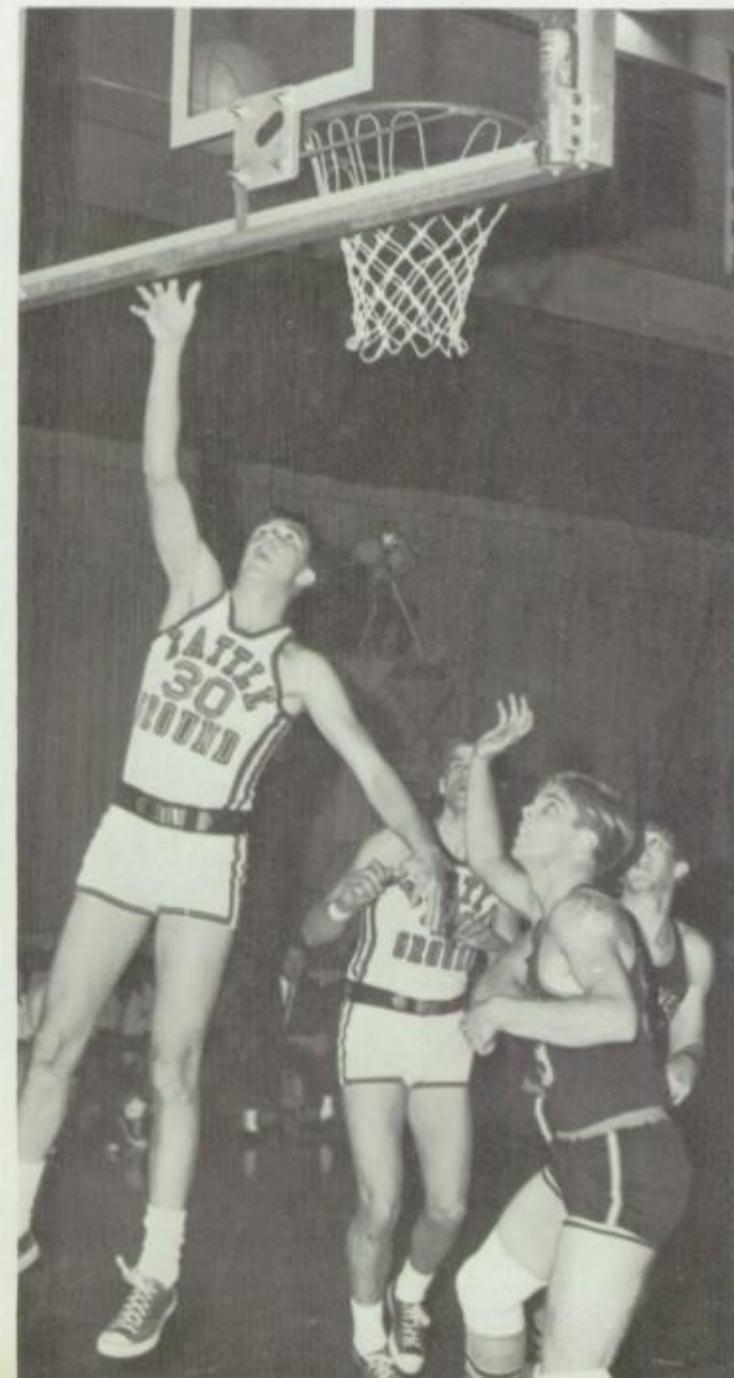

Senior Larry Anderson drives for two in win over Hudson's Bay.

Predictions

Ken Behrens scores two of his many points in pre-season triumph over Roosevelt.

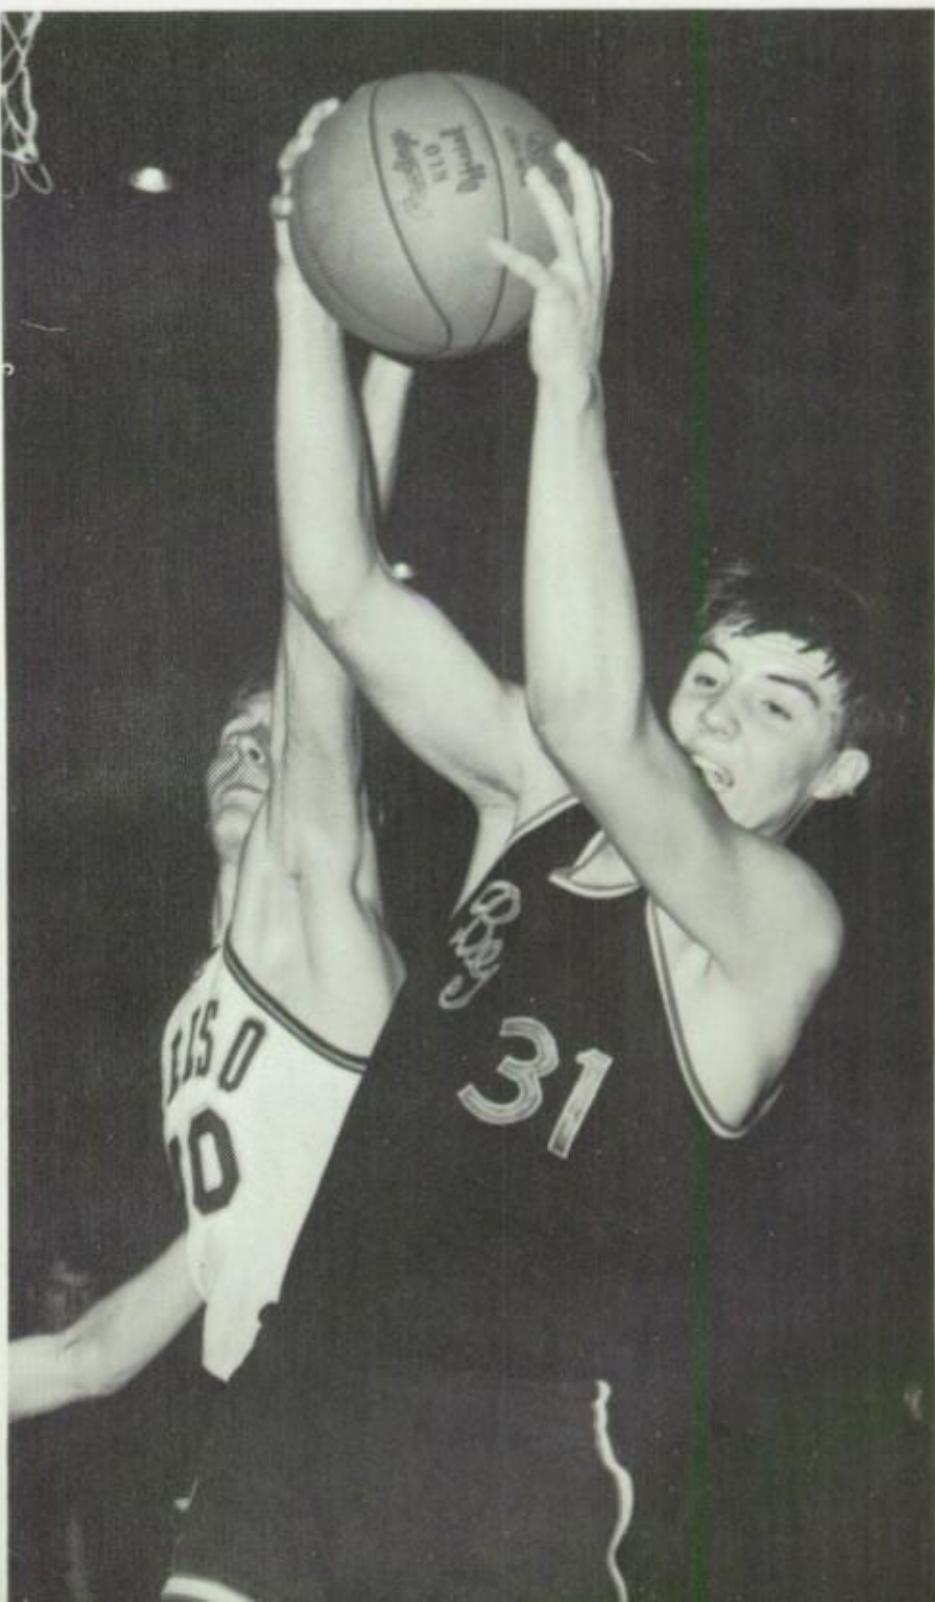

Senior Joe McCoy grabs rebound as Anderson and Jagelski look on in 90 to 42 victory over Camas.

Lee Bradford, junior forward, puts up jump shot against Olympia.

Tiger Ken Behrens snares rebound from helpless Kelso player.

Massie goes high to gain possession in jump ball.

JV's Enjoy Winning Year

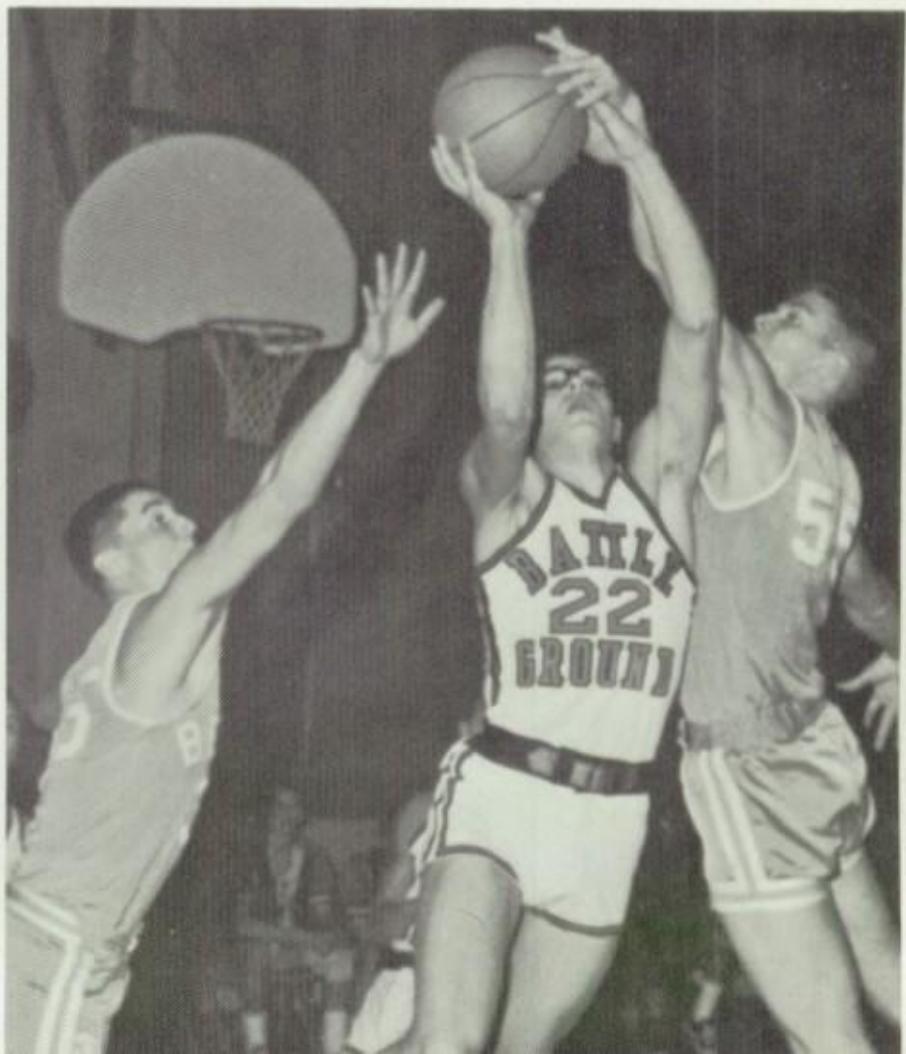

Ending the season with a fifteen-win, five-loss record, the JV's, coached by Mr. Wilkinson, proved to be one of the most successful teams during the 1967-68 sports year at BGHS.

After roaring through the pre-season games with a perfect 4-0 record, the JV's ran into trouble in their first league game as they dropped a close game to Mark Morris. However, the team got back on track and ended up third in the league with an 11-5 record, including two five-game winning streaks.

Scott Hall scores easy basket in win over Olympia.

JV center, Ron Charlson, drives for bucket.

Doubles team, Ruth McDaniels and Darlene Wiser, warm up for an important match.

TENNIS TEAM--FRONT ROW: J. Renshaw, C. Benge, C. Kennedy. ROW 2: Mrs. Cahoon, S.

Learning good sportsmanship through competition with other schools, energetic BGHS girls spent many hours after school preparing for basketball games and tennis meets.

The tennis team competed in league play and finished only one game out of first place. The two doubles teams, composed of Loretta Massie and Charlene Benge and Ruth McDaniels and Darlene Wiser, were undefeated in league play. Looking toward the future with anticipation the girls started practicing during the spring quarter for competition in the fall of '68.

Led by captain Ruth McDaniels and co-captain Loretta Massie, the traveling basketball team competed with Evergreen, Ridgefield, and Castle Rock in playdays and emerged victorious.

Tigers Show Potential

With a large turnout of varsity baseball prospects, the Tigers had hopes for a winning year. The team got off to a good start by beating Washougal in the season opener.

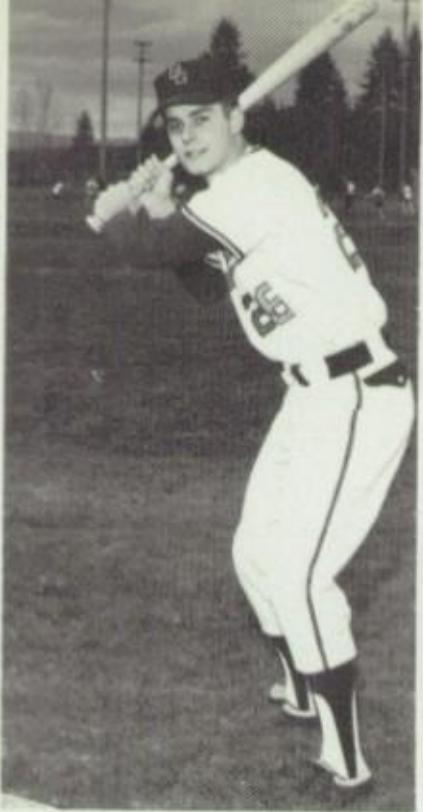

Of the four returning lettermen, only one was a starter from last year's club, but team hustle was expected to overcome this initial lack of experience. Coach Ferguson predicted that a strong defense and a hard-hitting Tiger offensive attack would carry the team to its full potential in the league.

Cindermen Assault School Records

Spike Walker, school record holder, prepares to unleash mighty throw in shot put.

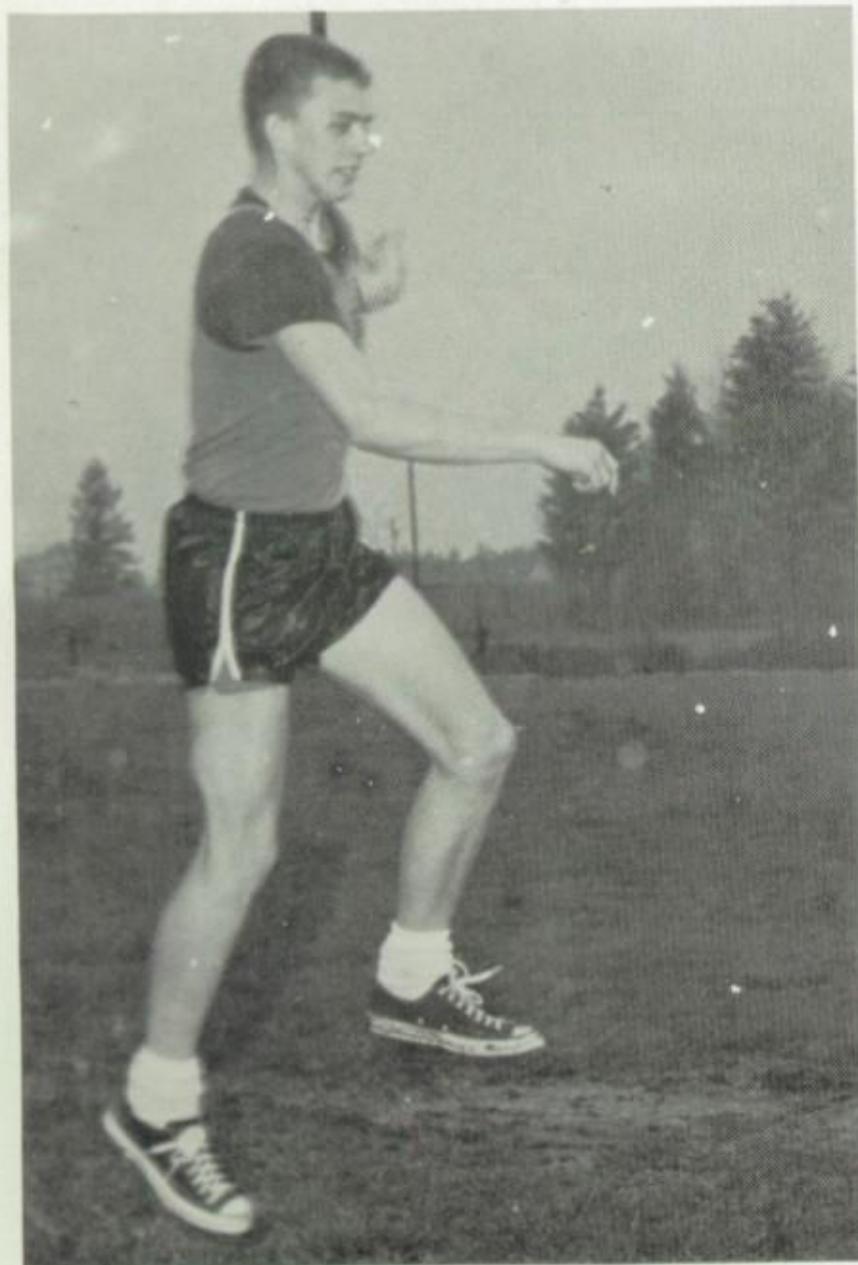

Inspired by the return of fifteen lettermen plus several outstanding sophomores, the Tiger cindermen looked forward to a victorious season.

Poor weather held down early season marks, but with the good weather of spring, several school records promised to be broken. The Tigers worked hard through the pre-season despite the disagreeable weather and aimed toward high finishes in the sub-district and district meets.

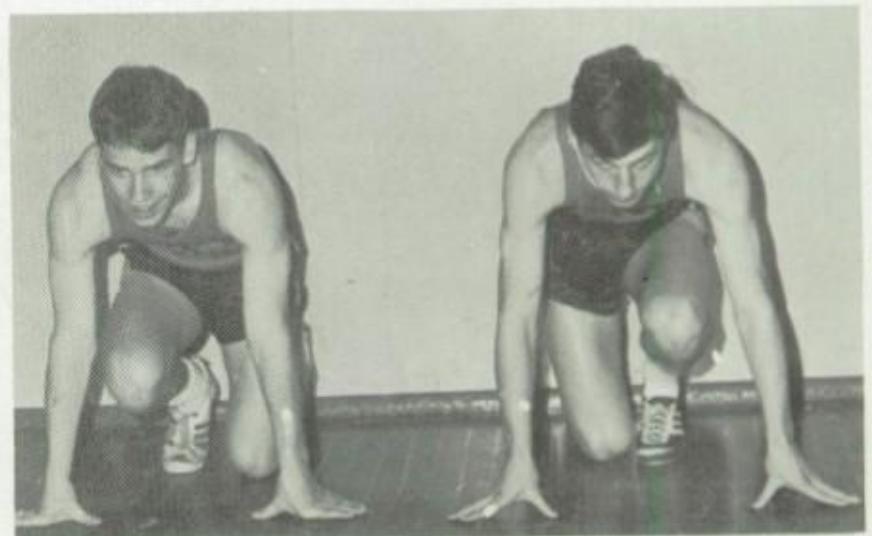

Randy Massie displays form that made him one of the league's top high jumpers.

Standout Individuals Spark

Triple jumper Lee Bradford prepares himself for long season.

BELOW: Tim Ryeise practices long jump.

Tiger Squad

With pride and team spirit the freshman track members overcame vast deficiencies in number and depth. Under the able coaching of Mr. Lynn and Mr. Manley, the Tigers fully expected a profitable season in league meets and awaited with anticipation the district meet in which they hoped to place high.
